HUBERT ZANDBERG

Born in South Africa and now based in London, consummate collector Hubert Zandberg brings a maximalist sensibility to the art- and objet-filled homes he designs for his clients, many of whom are as acquisitive as he. Zandberg has a unique talent for showcasing treasures in spaces that feel livable and not at all like museums or cabinets of curiosities. For this bedroom of a petite pied-à-terre in Paris's 8th arrondissement, the designer created a wonderfully flamboyant and highly French take on old Hollywood glamour. Many of the items he deployed come from the Clignancourt flea market, in Paris, and from Istanbul's Grand Bazaar, while others are custom pieces of his own creation.
