GEOMETRIC AND ECLECTIC

Hubert Zandberg's eclectic transformation of this 30-square-meter Parisian apartment was done in an aesthetic he describes as "industrial meets horticulture." Shiny bright green geometric tiles combine with industrial units, custom-made wardrobes, and antique mirrors. A vintage dressing table has been customized to create a vanity unit that supports a slate hand basin.

CONNECTED SPACES

In this airy duplex apartment in London designed by Hubert Zandberg, the bedroom, dressing room, and bathroom had to work together as one cohesive space given that the large connecting double doors are often left open. The bathroom features polished steel frames and marble cladding in muted colors made softer by the use of voile curtains.
