Fashion house Talitha has opened a lifestyle showroom in London's Notting Hill, where its bohemian garments and eccentric shop fittings are sold. Owners Kim Hershov and Shon Randhawa hired interior designer Hubert Zandberg to create the intimate atelier. "The idea was to layer the space with things that can travel with you from home to home," says Zandberg. talithacollection.com

Garments such as the embroidered kaftan (top left) were made at Talitha's atelier in New Delhi, and heavily inspired by India's rich textile heritage. The walls were painted two shades of teal blue for a dramatic effect.
